Subsequent rate revisions would be after six months interval thereafter. For instance, if a contract commences for a period of four (4) years on, say, 16th April 2017, there will be seven rate revisions due during (4) four years period. 1st rate revision would be due w.e.f. 1st Nov, 2017, 2nd w.e.f. 1st May 2018 and 3rd w.e.f. 1st Nov, 2018, and so on.

The rate revision would be regulated by the following formula For 1st rate revision

$$\% \text{ increase in contract rates} = (P_1 - P_B) / P_B \times 100 \times 30/100$$

Where P_1 = HSD price on 1st of the month following completion of initial five months of contract (as applicable in city of contract); and P_B = Base HSD price on the last date of submission of tender (in the city of contract).

For subsequent six monthly rate revisions

$$\% \text{ increase in contract rates} = (P_N - P_{N-1}) / P_{N-1} \times 100 \times 30/100$$

- a) Where P_N = HSD price on 1st day of the previous month of the due date of nth escalation (as applicable in city of contract); and P_{N-1} = HSD price on 1st day of the previous month of (n-1)th escalation (as applicable in the city of contract).
- b) The revision on the basis of above principle will remain valid for the original period of contract, as per provisions of tender. In case HALCON management decides to extend the original contract period, HALCON may negotiate the prices with the contractor depending upon the market situation at the time of extension and the extension will be given at mutually accepted rates. Contractor will have the right to exit from the extended period if no agreement on mutually acceptable rates is arrived at for the extendable period. In such an event, the contractor will, however, have to work at the same rates till finalization of new tender, beyond the initial contract period, to enable HALCON to finalize alternative arrangements.

In case extension is agreed to, the same rate revision will be applicable for extended period with base shifted to the date on which extension becomes effective.
